

Professional Independent Training Techniques Ltd

Dear Sir or Madam,

The PITT training centre is run by Paul Riley, Paul worked for the leading ceramic tile manufacturer H&R Johnson's from June 1975 where he joined as an apprentice. He attended the local college to gain his City in Guilds qualification in ceramic wall and floor tiling. Paul worked on many prestige jobs for the company over his 16 years to become a class experienced ceramic tile installer having also a solid background in tile manufacture.

After taking the decision to leave to set up his own business in tiling he worked for some 3 years making a successful business called Academy Tiling services, on his 3rd anniversary of running the business he was approached by Building Adhesives Ltd the U.K. leading ceramic tile adhesive and grout manufacturer. Paul joined the very experienced technical team at their Stoke-On-Trent site where he started and built their training centre, to teach the skills of ceramic tiling, after his 12 months intensive training program in the technical aspects of tiling all areas, including swimming pools, external facades and many other demanding areas, following on with many training courses in presentation skills, Health & Safety NVQ 4 and the psychology training required in understanding people and how they learn, all this to able him to offer training not found in colleges and other basic course centres around Europe.

From here Paul joined Topps Tiles to offer his skills to there growing retail outlets. So after working for all the key companies in the tiling industry he felt the time was right with 30 years in this technical field to open the PITT training centre in the midlands to offer people all over the country the chance to learn his skills through the team now also fully trained in every aspect by Paul himself, so whether you are looking to become a true professional or just to gain DIY skills then visit this amazing centre here in the heart of the potteries.

No other centre will offer the same level of training, with a full back-up service offered free to all delegates from 8-00am to 9-00pm 7 days a week to ensure you are never completely on your own after the training course whether its plumbing, tiling or both should you want to be that sort after bathroom fitter.

Our promise is that your skill after our training course will far supersede any NVQ as it will give you the underpinning knowledge and more for a basic NVQ level 2.
